

INTERNAL · SUPPORT

Canned Reply Library.

Written answers for the messages that arrive every week. Paste, change the name, send.

PROGRAM

SUPERMIND TEAM

WHERE

PAIRS WITH · SM-SOP-25

VERSION

V3.2 · SEPTEMBER 2026

HOW TO USE THESE

Paste, adjust, send

Change the name, cut anything that does not apply, and keep the voice: warm, direct, answer first. If you type a reply twice that is not here, add it.

WELCOME

New affiliate

You're in, [name].

Three things, in order:

1. Start Here – eight short modules. A lunch break.
2. The Vault – everything you need to post, pre-approved.
3. Post once this week. Tag @supermindlab, #ad in the caption.

The community and the Thursday call are on Ziion:

<https://ziion.io/events/a5687f71-e402-4eaf-90f4-df3e5e24608a>

Questions go in Help. A person answers.

Code issued

Here you go, [name].

Code: [CODE] – your audience gets 10% off

Link: [LINK] – credits you for 30 days after a click

Put the code in the last line of your captions and the link in your bio. Share both; some people type, some people tap.

Promotion

[name], you hit [tier].

Your rate is now [X]% on the website and [Y]% on TikTok Shop, live from today. Same code, higher rate. [The Creator folder in The Vault is now open / Your Partner benefits are in the handbook.]

Nicely done.

MONEY

Missing sale

Let me track that down. Send me three things: the date, whether it was TikTok or the website, and roughly what the order was worth.

Two things account for most of these. A customer can only use one discount code per order, so if they used a different one, yours does not attach. And TikTok sales never show up in website reporting, since TikTok pays you directly on its own schedule.

When are we paid

Website commission is paid monthly, covering the previous calendar month. The exact date and minimum are in your welcome email.

TikTok Shop is separate: TikTok pays you directly on its own schedule, shown in your TikTok creator dashboard.

RULES

Missing disclosure

[name], one thing on the post from [day]: it needs #ad or #affiliate in the caption, and visible on the video.

This one protects you rather than us. It is US law for anybody earning from a post, and a disclosure in the comments does not count. Edit the caption when you get a second and you are set.

The post itself is good. More of that.

Claim that needs fixing

Have to flag one line: "[the line]."

Anything that says the product treats or cures a condition is a line neither of us can cross, and it lands on you personally as well as on us. The same idea works as your own experience: "[rewritten version]."

Everything else in the post is fine.

Health question from their audience

Good question to be careful with. Send them to the full ingredient list at asupermind.com and to their doctor or pharmacist. Neither of us is qualified to answer a question about a condition, a medication, a pregnancy or an allergy, and it is the one place where guessing is expensive.

REQUESTS

Paid ads

Paid ads using your code need written permission first, mostly so two people are not bidding on the same terms. Tell me the platform, the spend and the creative you are planning and I will get you an answer this week.

Event or wholesale

Yes, let's talk. Send me the date, the city, the room size and what you are planning. We promote affiliate events to the network, and when it fits we send a collab pack so the whole room tries it.

Holding reply

Good question. I would rather give you the right answer than a fast one, so I am checking with the team. You will have it by Thursday.